We cover the world.

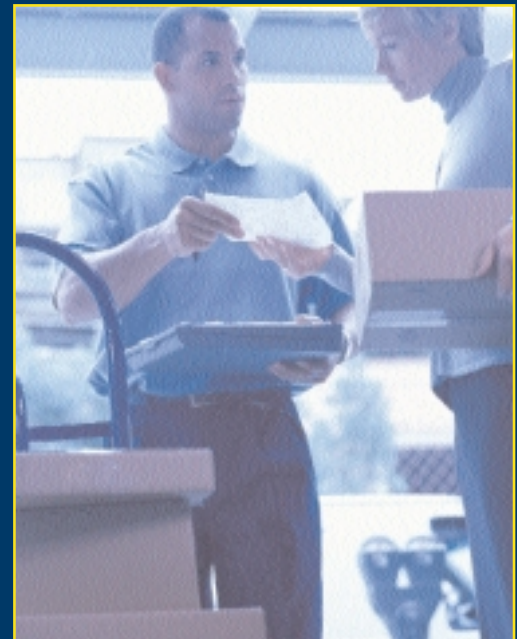

Everyone at First Air knows that we represent the last step in a long and costly process. Much time, effort and expertise goes into your particular program before it is entrusted to a freight carrier. For 18 years, First Air has been traveling the globe with important shipments in our care. We are the leader in freight forwarding for the Graphic Arts industry.

Round-the-clock.

We pick up and deliver any time day or night. First Air serves industries with the most demanding requirements:

Our customers know that their valuable project isn't truly completed until it is safely delivered at the final destination.

24 hours a day, 7 days a week - including all holidays.
Late night pick ups with no weight limitations and no freight cut off time.

We lead the way.

Once you leave your project with us—it's in good hands. We ensure that all shipments are handled and delivered on time with the utmost care. And we provide cost effective solutions that allow our customers to meet their goals. Your shipping will be worry free as we provide the highest quality in computerized tracking allowing you to know where your shipment is at all times.

Teamwork makes your shipment work.

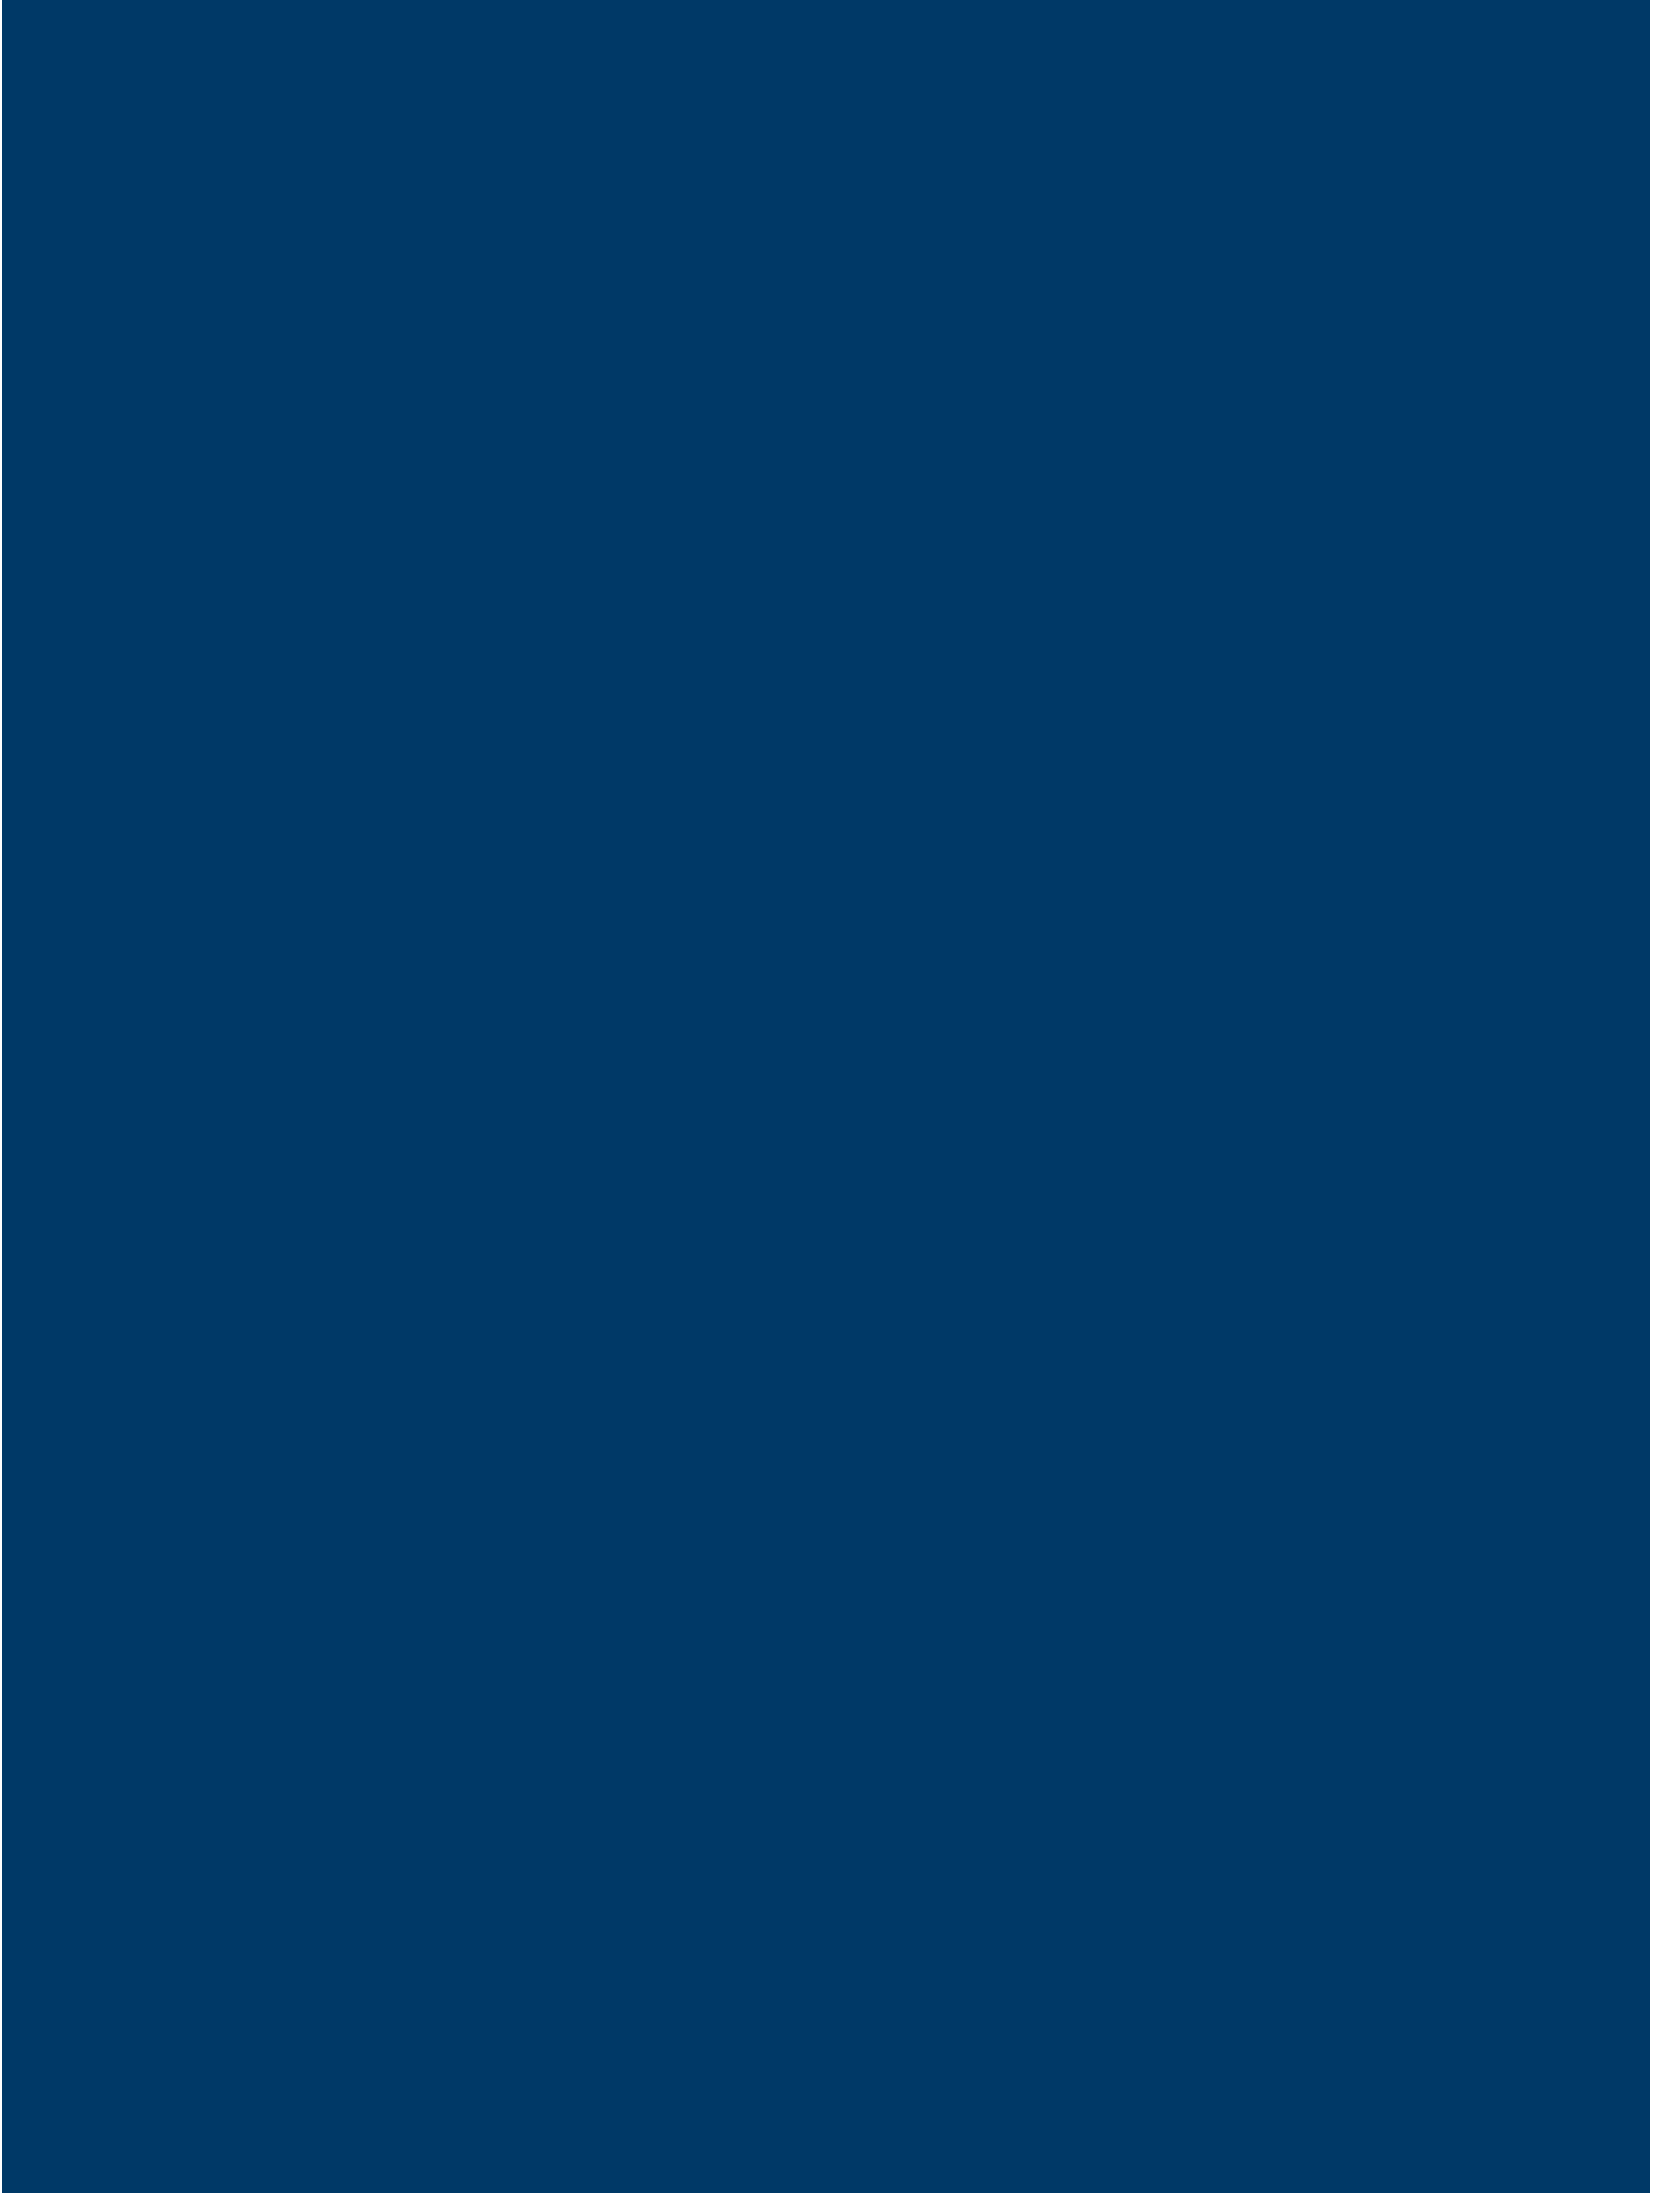

Your freight is automatically assigned to a First Air team that sees it through from the start of the project to the finish. The first step is communication. We find out what you need, then we recommend the most effective solutions to ensure the best outcome. Finally, we provide you with a spot quote on demand based on locations, service requested and weight. Your reward is complete service and a shipment delivered on time at the right price.
